Dr. Hu Shih To Talk At Graduation

Chinese Ambassador Will Give Commencement Day Address

FORMER NEWSMAN WILL STRESS UNITY

Dr. Hu Shih, the Chinese ambassador to the United States, will give the commencement address this June. Dr. Shih was invited by Pres. Paul D. Moody on behalf of the college while President Moody was on leave of absence in Washington this spring.

In speaking of Dr. Shih, President Moody says, "Dr. Shih is one of the most highly educated and intellectual men of our time. He is in great demand to give commencement addresses and gave something like eight such addresses last year."

Graduate of Cornell

Dr. Shih was graduated from Cornell university in 1914, and later took his doctorate at Columbia university. He has been a frequent visitor to the United States.

In September, 1938 Dr. Shih was appointed to succeed Dr. C. T. Wang as ambassador to the United States. At the time of his appointment he was in Geneva attending a session of the League of Nations, but following the orders of his home government he hurried to his post in Washington as soon as possible.

Upon arriving in New York on October 3 on board the Queen Mary, Dr. Shih talked of the war preparations then going on in Europe. "The whole spirit of determined resistance I found was most impressive particularly on the part of the English people."

Dr. Shih presented his credentials to President Roosevelt on October 28 and thus formally took over his first diplomatic post. As a representative of the new and old China, Dr. Shih is considered well qualified to explain China to the United States and the United States to China.

Known As Editor

In his native country Dr. Shih is known as a fearless editor and educator endowed with a broad modern vision. He has worked hard to simplify the Chinese alphabet. Dr. Shih is well known leader in the movement to give the Chinese people literature in their spoken tongue.

In speaking of this new ambassador the New York Times writes, "Dr. Hu Shih's literary revolution may have a greater effect in the long run than Dr. Sun Yat-sen's political revolution.

"Dr. Shih is no fire eater, but a philosopher who is willing to defend his philosophy in action."

Women Debaters Go On Final Tour Today

The women's debating team left this morning to participate in its last two debates on this year's schedules. They will oppose a team from New York State college for teachers in Albany tonight, and then will journey to Patterson, New Jersey, to meet a team representing the New Jersey State Teachers college tomorrow night.

Alice Austin '42 and Elizabeth von Thurn '43 will uphold the affirmative side in tonight's contest of the question, "Resolved: That the nations of the Western hemisphere should form a permanent union." The debate will be the first women's debate this year in which the Oregon style will be followed, and it will be a non-decision contest.

Ruth Hardy '41 and Miss Austin will oppose the team from New Jersey State Teachers' college, again taking the affirmative side of the question. This debate will follow the regular style.

D. K. Smith To Be Mt. Club President

New Voting System Made Effective By Amendment To Skyline Constitution

Skyline elected a new governing board for 1941-1942 at a meeting last Friday night. The new board is headed by David K. Smith '42, who replaces Dan B. Armstrong '41, the retiring president of Mountain club.

Nominations from Floor

After nominations were submitted by the board of Skyline and also from the floor, the following were elected to the governing board for next year: chairman of trips, trails, and cabins, Augustin A. Root '42; membership and equipment chairmen, Stephen G. Wilson '43 and Elisabeth von Thurn '43; commissary, S. Carol Hartman '43; recorder, Lois R. Grandy '42; publicity chairman, Lewis E. Haines '43; treasurer, Vance A. Richardson '43; freshman men's tryout leader, Robert M. Byington '43; Winter Carnival co-chairmen, Elliot A. Baines '43 and M. Elizabeth Young '43.

Members of the Skyline body voted, the temporary members receiving only a half vote in the elections. This year was the first in which this system has been followed ,since a change in constitution was recently made.

Plans for the hike this Sunday to Mt. Horrid at Brandon gap have not as yet been completed. The outing will be for Skyline members only.

I. O. C. A. Conference

A number of Middlebury delegates will attend the I. O. C. A. spring conference on the weekend beginning May 9. The conference, combined with an outing, will be held at Camp Russel in Richmond, Massachusetts. The list of representatives from Skyline who are to attend the meeting has not been definitely decided.

Plans Completed For Decorations At Junior Prom

Arrangements for the 1941 Junior week are progressing as Margaret E. Woods '42, co-chairman of the event, announced the appointment of Elinor E. Dickie '42, Harriet Tillinghast '42, and Marjorie F. Hughes '42, as administrative assistants.

Miss Dickie and Miss Tillinghast will serve on the publicity committee while Miss Hughes will be connected with the program committee. According to the publicity committee, posters featuring the Junior Prom by Theodore E. Russell '42 and June A. Perry '42, will appear this week. Closing steps are now being taken with the Dennison company of New York city in connection with the decoration of the gymnasium, with present plans calling for a Latin American motif, according to David K. Smith, and Mary C. Brehaut '42, co-chairmen of the decorations committee.

"Ideal Prom Date"

Something of a novelty will be instituted this year with the introduction of "the ideal Junior Prom date" with the chief beneficiary being the women's campus. As the plan now stands, the woman holding the winning ticket of the raffle will receive a free ticket to the affair, an evening with a man to be selected by the Junior Week committee, and a dance program made up of exchanges with the most eligible men in college.

Says Robert W. Halligan '42, co-chairman of the publicity committee, "the entire idea is not necessarily to provide some co-ed with a date, but merely to add to the enjoyment of Junior Week proceedings. Therefore, it is hoped that the situation will be regarded in a humorous vein for it will certainly afford ten cents worth of enjoyment."

Dean Eleanor S. Ross, President and Mrs. Paul D. Moody, Dean and Mrs. John H. Patterson, and Prof. and Mrs. John G. Bowker will be guests of the junior class at the Prom.

Annual Awards For Dramatics Will Be Made

Awards of the Masque and the Shingles, presented annually to students for outstanding activity in dramatics will be awarded at the second night of "Gold in the Hills," the J. Frank Davis melodrama to be given May 8 and 9, according to an announcement by Prof. V. Spencer Goodreds.

Production committees for this play have also been announced by Professor Goodreds and include the following: properties, Mildred E. Carson '43, Virginia E. Clemens '43, Katherine Kurtz '43 and Barbara H. Skinner '43; programs, Constance E. Girard '41, June A. Perry '42, Nancy H. Rindfusz '42 and Elva A. Tarbell '43.

Electricians, Marshall B. Cline '41, Dean S. Northrop '42 and Winifred S. Mergendahl '43; box office, W. Bruce George '43 and Ellen E. Holt '42, stage hands, Douglas H. Mendel '42 and John A. Hyman '44; carpentry, Robert L. DeVeer '41; scenery painting, DeVeer, assisted by Miss Kurtz and Miss Mergendahl; piano accompaniment for incidental music and entre 'act numbers, Jane A. Stearns '44.

A complete list of the songs which will be sung has also been announced. As between the act numbers, "The Band Played On," "Always Take Mother's Advice," "Take Back Your Gold," and "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" will be heard. The songs which will be used in the play itself are "Then You'll Remember Me," "Sweet Marie," and "The Vacant Chair."

"Gold in the Hills" contains all the usual melodrama elements and is the type of play popular a generation ago. Scenes include the "happy Homestead" whose family is harrassed by the "city slicker", the heroine, who leaves for the city, and at the close a happy ending for all.

Playhouse season tickets will be good for admission, or the usual price of fifty cents.

The board which choses the recipient of the scholarship is made up by the rotation system among the sororities. This year's board is composed of the following juniors: Alice J. Austin, Grace E. Barry, Hope C. Rood, and Dorothy J. Watson and the dean of women.

INSTALLATION OF EXECUTIVES HELD BY STUDENT UNION

On Wednesday evening, April 23 at 7:00 o'clock there was a meeting of the Student Union in Mead Memorial chapel for the purpose of installing officers for the coming year.

After the reports of the retiring secretary and chief justice had been heard Ruth H. Packard '41, president for the year 1940-1941, presented her successor, Alice Taylor '42, with the gown of authority and a bouquet of red roses.

The other newly elected officers are as follows: vice-pesident, Virginia I. Wynn '43; chief justice, Patricia L. Kane '42; secretary, Elizabeth von Thurn '43; treasurer, Elinor L. Dickie '42; and assistant treasurer, Charlotte H. Johnson '43.

At this meeting it was suggested that the annual Student Government conference be invited to Middlebury next year. The conference this year is to be held at the University of New Hampshire on May 2, 3, and 4. Miss Taylor and Miss Dickie are planning to represent the Student Union of Middlebury at this meeting.

The object of the conference is to discuss the honor system and the purpose of women's student government. In addition to the usual panel discussions, reports, and key speakers, the program will include an informal get-together on May 2.

Psychology, Education Departments Reorganized To Provide New Major

Several important curricular changes which enable students to major in psychology and affect the educational field, are announced in a bulletin revamping the previous section devoted to psychology and education in the college catalogue.

Prof. William F. Madden will give a course in child and adolescent psychology; one in social psychology, which has been changed from the sociology department; and one in the psychology of educational and vocational guidance. The course that has been offered this year in education will be split into two sections, one for students interested in teaching, and one for those interested in general psychology.

Dr. Frank E. Howard will present a new course on advance studies in psychology. The purpose of this will be to discuss the psychologist's contributions to the fields of aesthetics and religion.

In throwing open the field of psychology to students seeking a major subject, the department expects completion of the following subjects necessary to the comprehensive examinations:

1. One year or two semester courses in general psychology and the various fields cognate to it.

2. One year course or its equivalent in tests and measurements of the various group types in the psychological field.

3. One year course or its equivalent in advanced theories of the factors operative on the psychology of the human being. All courses necessary to the field and those considered cognate as approved by the faculty through the curriculum committee, are appropriately designated in the supplementary bulletin.

LINDBERGH IS STILL FLYING ALONE

Historical parallels are always dangerous. They are doubly so when used as a means of bitter denunciation. When President Roosevelt provoked the resignation of Colonel Lindbergh from the Army Air Corps Reserve it was not the case of an officer on active duty opposing the views of his commander-in-chief. Colonel Lindbergh, in the status of a private citizen, has been expressing his views on a matter that is of vital interest to all of us. And all of us still like to think that we have the privilege of our opinions without being subject to scathing criticisms from the highest executive office in the land.

Whether Colonel Lindbergh's isolationist views are correct is not the question. It is true that the British have left us an example of the terrible effects of following the policy of appeasement. An emergency situation does exist .The nation, as a whole, is well aware of it and is backing the defense efforts of the administration. The isolationists and appeasers are in a distinct minority and do not consitute a threat to the Roosevelt policy. Is the President justified in turning back the pages of history to find for comparison the most unsavory figure possible short of Benedict Arnold and provide caustic consequences for those who oppose the current trend of public opinion? — D. F. S.

FIRST STEP TOWARD A NEW GOVERNMENT

The survival of the fittest, according either to Darwin, or to the modern interpretations of the subject, has always meant the survival of those able to discriminate between the qualities which should be preserved and those which should be changed. At the present time, the women's government is going through such a struggle for existence and test of discrimination.

The present form of student government is being beaten back. Enough has been said about the non-cooperative attitude of the women at Student Union meetings. Every woman realizes the dangers of this situation. The real government comes from a hierarchy of upper classmen, mostly officers in Student Union and prominent in other school activities.

Constantly the women are urged to obey Student Union rules by the phrase, "The rules were made by students, for students." The present government, however, gives no such feeling of personal responsibility for the laws.

Now the impetus has been given, and the women are trying to frame a new government, a workable and practical one which will really be by, for, and of the students. The cynical say that anything would be better than this present system. While that statement is fundamentally true, it is not a healthy state of mind to bring to the job of making a new constitution.

At the recent installation, the retiring president of Student Union, said that she was turning over a very important job to the new officers. What she really meant was that she was turning it over the student body. Unless every student realizes that this change affects her personally, the form of government, no matter what it is, will be a failure.

The proposed form of government under the new constitution is that of a representative system, similar to the men's government under the Assembly. It is expected to reduce the number of people actively participating in the government but intensify the interest.

In order to put such a government into action, it will take, not the reduction of people concerned and intensification of interest, but the extension of interest and the desire for cooperation. Only by the students' vital awareness of the problems and virtues of the new government, and some intelligent thinking on their part, can any new constitution become a living part of the woman's government. —M. E. C.

Dean From Cairo Lectures In Chapel

Near East Westernization Is Subject of Lecture by Dr. Robert McClanahan

Dr. Robert McClanahan of Cairo university in Egypt, spoke on "the near East in search of a way out" yesterday evening at 8:00 p. m. in Mead chapel.

The locus of Dr. McClanahan's lecture was the great crescent at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. This crescent follows the Mediterranean shoreline from Suez to Constantinople, swings east through Persia, the borders of India, the southern tip of Egypt, back to Suez. Three continents, Asia, Africa, and Europe meet in this crescent. He continued "we are apt to think of the countries of this region as being inferior to those of the western world . . . yet we're indebted to the Phoenicians for the very alphabet we use, to the Arabs for our numerical figures." Iron, cereals and fruits came originally from this region and the Mohammedan religion arose in Arabia.

Strict adherence to the dogmas and traditions of the Mohammedan religion has isolated the people of this crescent from the rest of the world. About the time of Napoleon, a movement began to reunite this religion with other nations.

The representative from Cairo university turned last to Egypt, her history and her neutrality in the present world war. He feels that German treatment of small nations in Europe may bring Egypt into the war on the Allied side.

In conclusion Dr. McClanahan stated "The Near East is on the threshold of a great change."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the CAMPUS:
Dear Sir:

We would like very much to instigate some action on the possibility of having one of the present college buildings, or a part thereof, converted into some sort of a student coffee shop.

Such an establishment we feel is a real need on the Middlebury campus, primarily for the sake of convenience to the students, secondly because there are not sufficient entertainment facilities in Middlebury to meet the needs of the student body, and also because we fell that such an establishment could be run profitably and perhaps afford another means of income to deserving students.

Our conception of such a building would be a combination soda-fountain, coffee shop and lounge—to contain the first two mentioned and also a radio, recording machine, newspapers, proper periodicals etc. If our present plans seem too extravagent, perhaps some of the features may be postponed until the success of the idea is assured.

We thought it best that the building be located on the college campus, perhaps in one section of Starr Hall, perhaps in the north-west wing of Gifford Hall on the ground floor, in Hamlin Hall or Old Chapel.—Any one of these sites would fulfill the purpose of catering to the convenience of the students.

As for the management of the establishment, we thought that greater efficiency could be derived if finances were handled by proper college authorities, with the understanding that all labor would be done by students on a salary basis to help them defray college expenses. Rules of conduct could be determined by our present governing bodies, the Men's Assembly, and the Student Union.

Admittedly the whole idea is still in a very crude form, but we thought that the quicker action was started, the better. If we coud achieve some reaction on the remainder of the student body, perhaps have the idea crystallized in the form of motions before both the Men's Assembly and the Student Union, bring the idea before President Moody, the two deans, action on the part of the CAMPUS in editorials, in further letters, and even brought before the alumni body through the college news letter.

We would appreciate comment by the CAMPUS, and also on the part of any other students who are interested in our project—in the meantime we wish to thank you for consideration of our letter.

Sincerely,
Moses G. Hubbard '41
Kenneth E. Cosgrove '42
Robert W. Halligan '43
Victor C. Colonna '44

The CAMPUS will agree that a relaxation and entertainment center such as you propose is needed at Middlebury. The function of such a center, at present, seems to be shared by several local restaurants, the browsing room of the library and the local theaters. We would suggest that the matter be brought before the Men's Assembly and Student Union before the end of the college year.—Ed.

MUSICALE WILL BE GIVEN

McGraw, Kitson and Briggs To Present Recital May 4

A benefit musicale will be given Sunday evening, May 4, in the lounge of the Middlebury inn for the benefit of the Adelphia Circle of the King's Daughters. Plans for the performance were discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the organization held last Monday night.

Selections of vocal and piano music from Brahms, Schubert, Beethoven and contemporary composers will be presented by Miss Barbara Kitson, Dorothy J. Briggs '39 and Cameron McGraw '40. Miss Kitson and McGraw, pianist, composer and several times soloist with the Vermont Symphony orchestra, will accompany Miss Briggs, mezzo soprano, at the piano.

Among the services given by the King's Daughters are donations to organizations such as the Red Cross, Children's aid, and Vermont summer projects, and assistance wherever there is need.

The three artists are contributing their talents for the benefit and James Shea, manager of the inn, has given the use of the lounge and piano for the affair.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES VOCATIONAL PROGRAM TO WOMEN STUDENTS

Prof. Hansen Speaks On Impact Of War To U. S. Economic Status

One of the foremost economists in the United States Professor Alvin H. Hansen, director of business administration at Harvard university, lectured in Mead chapel last Saturday night. The title of his lecture was "The Impact of War on United States Economy."

Professor Hansen gave his impressions of what the effect would be on our economy if the war continues. He gave detailed statistics on unemployment in the United States and also on the strikes in the defense industries. A comparison between the proportional production of Germany and the U. S. showed that Germany was far ahead of us. However, according to Professor Hansen, the United States has a potentially higher industrial capacity than all of Europe put together under Germany. Our natural resources and raw materials are much more extensive than those of Europe. He also pointed out that the economic system of Germany will eventually lead the war to the Mediterranean.

The noted economist predicted that the United States would be involved in the European conflict within two years. The lecture was attended by economic majors and also by members of the Contemporary Civilization classes.

Mr. Hansen is the father of Mildred J. Hansen, '44.

W.A.A. Executives Elected On Friday

President-Elect Grandy '42 Represents Middlebury At Smith Athletic Outing

At a meeting of the Women's Athletic association last Friday night, the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Lois R. Grandy '42; vice-president, Isabel B. Grier '43; treasurer, Joan L. Calley '42; custodian, Charlotte H. Johnson '43; and secretary, Doris A. Orth '44.

Plans for several W. A. A. spring sports have been completed. The first games in the tennis tournament must be played by Friday while baseball games between the classes will start on the same day.

Last night six couples from the University of Vermont played badminton against twelve Middlebury players in the gymnasium.

Dr. Henry Hallam Tweedy, professor of practical theology at Yale university, will address Midddlebury students for the second time this school year at vespers next Sunday.

Following graduation from Yale in 1891, Dr. Tweedy attended Union Theological seminary in New York. He received a degree there and went on to the University of Berlin. Ordained a Congregational minister in 1898, he served in pastorates at Utica, New York, and Bridgeport, Connecticut. Since 1909, he has held his present position at Yale.

Dr. Tweedy spoke here last December 1, discussing the need for intelligent conservation of our national resources and development of ourselves to the utmost extent of our inheritance.

POCKMAN '42 NEW FORUM PRESIDENT

Thrift Shop Clothing Sales Bring Total Of $135

Leonore W. Pockman '42 was elected president of Women's Forum for the coming academic year at a meeting of the organization held on April 15.

Also elected to offices were: Nancy L. Cowgill '43, vice-president; Louise V. Cosenza '44, secretary; June M. Archibald '43, treasurer; Barbara B. Higham '43, social service chairman; and Margaret A. Fell '42, program chairman.

The total year's profit made on the Thrift shop sponsored on campus by the forum is approximately $135. Boxes were put in the various dormitories throughout the year for contributions of old clothing. Members then renovated the donations and sold them. A part of this money has been used to aid needy children, and with another part, the game room of the community house will be redecorated. The remaining amount is to be used to pay the expenses of a forum member to stay in Middlebury at the close of school to organize a playground for community children.

WINS Broadcasts N.Y.U.-Middlebury Non-Decision Debate On Conscription

Connor '41, Pressman '44 Oppose Army Duty At Eighteen

On last Sunday afternoon April 27, the Middlebury College debating team met a team representing New York university in a contest which was broadcast over station WINS. John D. Connor '41 and Charles Pressman '44 represented Middlebury in this non-decision debate, taking the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved: That all men should be subject to selective service at the age of eighteen."

The Middlebury team pointed out that this measure would not only allow drafting of men at the age of eighteen for military service, but it would also permit the government to place boys and men in any industry as well.

In beginning the negative case, the team emphasized the fact that they favored aid to Britain, and that they wanted to see democracy victorious. And above all, Middlebury stressed patriotism for the United States. The case rested upon this point, for the team condemned this measure and showed that, if it were to become a law, it would have unpatriotic results.

The Middlebury team stated that this measure was unnecessary at the present. During World War I, four million men were under arms, and conscription did not include men younger than twenty-one.

Another point was that this age between eighteen and twenty-one is the period when one is just developing into manhood and just ending his preparation for life. The team declared that youth can best serve our country by continuing in higher educational institutions.

The third main point presented by the Middlebury team in opposition to this measure was that if such a measure should become law, the United States might possibly be faced with the danger of fascism from within. Any army must regiment and doctrinate to a certain extent, for army life must be one of obeying orders and not one of free thought. Hitler's strength lies in his power over the youth of Germany. Possibly if boys of eighteen were placed in the army and liked the taste of army discipline, they would be easy prey to someone who wished to gain power by controlling youth. The team fully realized the necessity for an emergency army, but stated that it should be limited to men above the age of twenty-one.

Poetry Talk Heard By Literary Group

Mendel To Read Dramatic Monologues from Wilder Play in Meeting Tonight

Addressing her second Middlebury audience, Olive Lindsay Wakefield talked before the Literary club about her brother, Vachel Lindsay, last Wednesday evening. The presentation of dramatic monologues from "Our Town" by Douglas H. Mendel '42, which was to have been presented at this time, will be given at the meeting of the club tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Pearson's living room.

Mrs. Wakefield, who gave an address last Tuesday evening in Mead chapel, remained to talk to the Literary club the following night. She read such poems as her brother's "Congo" and "Chinese Nightingale." One of the poems was read responsively with the club members participating. Others were chanted in reading by Mrs. Wakefield, causing an unusual effect.

Speaks of Brother

The poet's sister then spent some time speaking on the life of her famous brother, giving a great many personal anecdotes about him in connection with his poetry. She brought out the fact that he liked rural much better than urban places and that he traveled throughout the West. It was pointed out that people usually think of Vachel Lindsay during the last ten years of his life when he had become broken of spirit and cynical. Mrs. Wakefield tried to bring out the earlier man to the members of the club and to show the vast difference.

The club was given an opportunity to look at sketches that the poet had made during his life illustrating his ideas and his impressions of the West. Mrs. Wakefield also had pictures of the poet's parents for the members to see. A period of questions and discussion followed her talk.

"Our Town"

"Our Town," Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winning play and a recent motion picture, has been prepared in a monologue form by Douglas H. Mendel '42. At the meeting tonight Mendel will give the monologue taking all the parts himself.

Mendel is majoring in dramatics here at Middlebury and has taken part in a number of productions at the Playhouse where "Our Town" was presented last year as a student production.

National Field Secretary Visits Middlebury Group

Last weekend, Miss Rena Cox, national field secretary of Phi Mu fraternity, visited the Beta Lamba chapter of Phi Mu at Middlebury.

During her stay, Miss Cox was entertained at a tea on Monday afternoon from four to five-thirty o'clock. Two representatives from each sorority on campus were invited to meet Miss Cox at this time.

Miss Cox came to Middlebury from Colby. Her home is in Seattle, Washington, and she has been traveling progressively eastward from there to visit the chapters of Phi Mu since January 1.

JUNIORS RECEIVE FACULTY AT TEA

Under the supervision of Nina Camuti '42, the junior women held their annual tea for members of the faculty in Pearsons living room on April 24 from four until six.

Lois H. Schneider '42 was in charge of the refreshments while Miss Florence C. Allen, Mrs. W. S. Burrage, Mrs. Paul D. Moody and Miss Eleanor S. Ross poured. Each member of the class invited two faculty members to be her guests. One half of the guests came from four until five and the remaining half from five until six.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock the junior class will again attend a tea when Mrs. Paul D. Moody entertains that group at her home.

Sound Movies Shown At Meeting Of German Club

Last Friday evening three German films were shown at the meeting of the German club held in the biology laboratory in Warner science hall. The new sound equipment recently purchased by the biology department was used for the showing of the films which dealt with various aspects of rural German life and customs.

The first movie was taken in the Hohner factory, and showed the steps which go into the manufacture of accordions. There were also several shots of various folk dances and peasants singing traditional ballads. Following that, a film was shown of the unusual sport which uses what is known as the Roen wheel, a large tubular wheel in which a person clings to supports and propels it by shifting his weight forward and backward.

Finally, colorful local customs were shown in a film taken of a peasant marriage in Hesse, which described the bride's costume with its multiplicity of petticoats and enormous headdress, and the customary celebration in which almost an entire village takes part. Prof. Everett Skillings, the club adviser, read an explanation of each film, and commented on them.

According to John B. Franklin '42 president of the club, no definite arrangements have been made for the next meeting, but plans are underway for some members to attend the annual convention of German clubs which is to be held at Harvard around the middle of May.

Gifford, Hepburn Libraries Given 5000 New Books

By the end of this week new collections of books will have been placed in the libraries of Gifford and Hepburn halls, according to Mr. Wyman W. Parker, college librarian. A total of more than 5,000 volumes, some purchased, some donated, will be added to the libraries of these two men's dormitories.

The books to be put into Hepburn, about 2,000 volumes, are partly donations and also include about six hundred dollars worth of newly purchased works.

Those for Gifford hall include among the 3,000 works about 400 which have been donated from the Gifford library directly by Mrs. Gifford. These books have all been newly rebound. The books placed in these two libraries will not circulate and it is expected that Lester W. Ingalls '41 and Malcolm Freiberg '41 will act as librarians for Gifford and Hepburn respectively.

Among the books to be found in these two collections are such sets as "Cambridge Modern History," the "Encyclopedia of Social Sciences," the complete works of Hawthorne, Alexander Hamilton, Emerson, Washington Irving, Shakespeare, Scott, and George Eliot. There are also numerous collected volumes of English, French, Dutch and European history. Separate volumes cover American history and geography. Among the newly-purchased works are "Kitty Foyle," "The Tale of Two Cities," and others.

SIX COLLEGES GUESTS OF SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Middlebury's Vermont Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity was host to the District I convention which was held Saturday and Sunday, April 19 and 20.

On Saturday morning, there was a meeting for open discussion on fraternity business and problems. A dance was held for the delegates in the evening. On Sunday morning, discussions were continued, followed by a banquet Sunday noon which concluded the convention.

The Middlebury chapter was represented by Norman E. Hatfield '41, H. Terry Manning '41, Willard M. Mayo '42, David W. Emmons '42, and William R. Engesser '43.

ROBERT C. CLOTHIER, HEAD OF RUTGERS, CALLS WORLD "SHIPWRECK OF MANKIND"

Compares Sea Voyage Of Paul To Present Foreign Crisis

Comparing the world today to Paul's shipwreck as described in Acts XVII, Mr. Robert C. Clothier, president of Rutgers university, called today's world a "shipwreck of mankind" in vespers last Sunday.

"Today's conflict is a reproduction on a cosmic scale of what happened to Paul." Taking each step of the story, "one of the most dramatic in literature," Mr. Clothier drew parallels with the world situation at present. The smooth sailing out of Crete was compared to our easy-going life where physical ease and comfort are at the world's maximum and even the poorest are better off than many people in other countries. "The automobile," he said,"has taught forgetfulness of how to walk." Because "the south wind has blown gently," we in this country have not shared the responsibility of peace as seen in the Versailles treaty and League of Nations.

Need of Change

But now we have met with a tempestuous wind and must be driven before it because we are unprepared to do otherwise. In order to face the future, we must cast overboard all our old narrowness, pride, selfishness and meaningless spiritual comforts. Real faith grows better in adversity. Striking at the defeatist attitude toward human freedom, as seen in the "Wave of the Future," he extolled the freedom of democracy as an expression of Christianity, since both enshrine the dignity of the individual.

As the sailors who were taking Paul to Rome cast over four anchors to hold them through the night, we should similarly cast out four anchors; religion, or some belief in spiritual values; self-discipline, a return to dignity and honor from the excesses of self-indulgence; courage, to carry on; and vision to plan unselfishly a new order in which people of all nations can reach fulfillment of higher destinies.

Underclassmen Present Dance Demonstrations

McCullough gymnasium was the scene of the dance demonstration presented by the freshman and sophomore physical education classes today at 3:45 p. m.

Four countries were represented in the dances performed by the sophomore classes. Scotland was shown in the form of "The Highland Fling," Italy by "Tarentella," the United States by "Darling Nellie Gray" and Denmark by "Seven Jumps."

Folk dances were featured by the freshman classes, accompanied by a demonstration of Danish gymnastics. The classes also danced a take-off on folk-dancing entitled "Yesterday and Today" and performed "Varsovienne," "Fedder Mikel" and "Swiss Glide." Native costumes were worn in the latter numbers.

Balanced Panther Track Team Overcomes R.P.I.

Butler, Hicks, and J. Bates Gain Double Wins In 70-56 Triumph

STEBBINS, PARKER REPEAT VICTORIES

Saturday afternoon at Porter field brought a second victory to the Midd track team, this time over R. P. I. to the tune of 70-56. Surging up from behind to tie the score at 54-54 with only two events left to run, the cindermen, paced by Johnny Hicks and Rasmussen, placed first and second in the 220 leaving Jack Bates and Bill Bursaw to insure the meet by taking two first places in the broad jump.

Freddy Butler proved to be one of the big surprises of the day by not only winning his scheduled 440 but by pushing ahead of Morehouse of Midd and Inglis of R. P. I. to win a hard fought 880 in the time of 2:04.5. This was one of the hardest races of the meet with a first lap that very closely resembled a quarter mile in that it was run in the time of 57 seconds.

R. P. I. Scores In Field

R. P. I.'s strength was in the field where she made a clean sweep in the discus, while five firsts in the other field events piled up another 23 points. Midd's overwhelming power, however, in the track events, where she took eight firsts, was too much for the R. P. I. runners and left Midd on the winning end of the meet.

One of the highlights of the meet, the two mile run where Hal Parker turned in the time of 10:42.5, was Johnny Stetson's photo finish with Davis of R. P. I.

Midd Takes Dashes

Wittlin and Stebbins repeated their previous week's victories in the shot put and mile respectively and Johnny Hicks took two firsts in the sprints. Jack Bates also took two firsts in the broad jump and in the 220 low hurdles. Art Rasmussen showed up well in the meet by taking second place in the high and low hurdles and in the 220 yard dash.

The outstanding man on the R. P. I. squad was Barclay who secured one first in the high hurdles, tied for second with Jack Lundrigan in the high jump, and took thirds in the low hurdles and the broad jump.

Panthers Start On Three Game New York Trip

Middlebury's baseball team journeyed to Troy today to tackle the R. P. I. nine, the first opponent on their second trip of the season. Friday will find them in Canton, New York where they will meet St. Lawrence, and then on Saturday, Clarkson Tech will battle it out with the Middmen at Potsdam, New York.

Coach "Red" Kelly was greatly pleased with the team's showing last Friday in the game against Williams, and he is looking forward with the hope that the boys will keep up the good work. He was especially pleased with the pitching of Co-Captain Harry VanGaasbeck and plans to have him on the mound in as many games as possible this year.

Coach Kelly was planning to use Van today in the game against R. P. I., and this would give him a chance to rest up for the game on Saturday with Clarkson. Hal Skinner or George Wiemann will probably do the hurling on Friday against St. Lawrence.

The lineup was changed last week when Bob Sheehan started at shortstop. He played a good fielding and hitting game and was in the starting lineup today. The rest of the positions for today's game were filled in by those who have seen regular service in the four games so far. With Sheehan playing shortstop, Hal Skinner will probably be saved entirely for pitching.

Middmen Lose To Amherst In Tennis Opener

Amherst and Wesleyan each handed out stinging defeats to the Midd tennis team on its initial trip of the season last weekend.

Freshman Charlie Baird, playing in the number six singles position, was the only Middman to break into the win column as the crack Amherst tennists breezed to an 8 to 1 victory. There was no question about the superiority of the Lord Jeffs as they scored clean-cut victories right down the Middlebury singles slate of Captain Crawford, Lou Haines, Tom MacDonald, Charlie Proctor, and Bob Maxwell. The defeated doubles combinations in order of their positions were Crawford and Proctor, Haines and MacDonald, and Baird and Harold Melvin, a freshman pair.

The 7-2 score at Wesleyan was hardly indicative of the close competition of the individual matches. All of the first four singles matches were hotly contested, three-set battles. The Middlebury number two man, Lou Haines, after winning his singles match, paired up with MacDonald to win the second point for Midd.

GOLFERS SELECTED FOR SEASON OPENER

The starting team for yesterday's golf match with Union, and today's with Colgate was determined in a practice round held at the Rutland Country Club last Saturday. Dixie Davis had the lowest score—an 80. Sandy Young came through with an 83, and Captain Don Chapman delivered an 85. Duke Diefendorf completed the starting quartet with an 86.

This group was Coach Beck's choice to make the trip, although he was not certain just who would be playing in what positions. The unfamiliarity with the greens on the Rutland course probably contributed quite a bit to making the scores a little higher than expected.

MIDD GOLFERS WIN

Schenectady, April 29—The Middlebury golf team opened the season with a 3½ to 2½ win over Union college today on the Mohawk Country Club course here.

Don Chapman won his match, 4 and 3, while Sandy Young, freshman member of the squad took his opponent by the same margin. Davis was beaten 6 and 5, and Diefendorf halved his match. In team play, Diefendorf and Young came out on top while the combination of Chapman and Davis was beaten.

Williams Team Upset 5-4 By Improved Midd Nine

Co-Captain VanGaasbeck

Midd Trackmen To Run Against Williams Squad

After winning its first two meets, the Midd track squad heads south next Saturday for a contest with Williams where the chances for a win, on paper at any rate, look rather dim for Middlebury.

At the Midd-Williams meet last spring the Panthers went down before a powerful Williams squad by a score of 93-42 and that team looks just as strong this year as it did then. Last week they defeated a supposedly strong Vermont team 89½ to 49½ and have also defeated Union.

In the 100 they have three men who time under 10 seconds with P. W. Vietor starring for them here. Their distance and middle distance men are also very good with three timing under 2:02 in the half and Chapman in the mile who is capable of the very fast time of 4:30. Griggs in the two mile is also a top man and provides a distinct threat to the laurels of Hal Parker and John Stetson.

Jumping at five feet nine inches seems to insure Williams at least one place in the high jump and Wilson should be capable of taking the pole vault at 11 ft. 6 in. Otherwise their field event men are not as strong as the Middmen.

As stated before, however, this is merely the record as it stands on paper. Parker and Stebbins in the two mile and the mile have never been really pushed and a few seconds can be dropped from all times on the Porter field track due to the mediocre condition of the track itself.

VanGaasbeck Allows Eight Hits For Season's First Victory

WILLIAMS RALLY IN EIGHTH IS CHECKED

Co-captain Harry VanGaasbeck's brilliant hurling in the pinches led the way for Middlebury's surprising 5-4 win over the highly-touted William's nine in the home season opener at Porter diamond last Friday afternoon.

Williams and Middlebury each accumulated eight hits, but VanGaasbeck was able to make the Williams barrage less effective when the going was tough. Middlebury also took advantage of the six walks issued by the Williams hurlers, whereas only one Williams man was given a free pass to first.

Big Sixth Inning

Middlebury's big chance came in the sixth inning. Both Yeomans and Hawes were given free passes to first by Lare, the Williams pitcher. After a balk had advanced them both to scoring positions, Sheehan singled, sending two runs across home plate. Tommy Turner, hitting into right field, advanced Sheehan to third, from whence he scored on VanGaasbeck's hard infield grounder.

Williams big inning was the eighth, when the Williamstown boys scored two counters on four hits. In this inning, with two out and with Williams men on both second and third, Van fanned the last batter thus killing their hope of taking the lead. Altogether, Van pitched six scoreless innings. Williams was also able to send one man across home plate in both the second and seventh frames.

Yeomans Hits Hard

Middlebury was able to score in the first and fourth innings to make Middlebury's total as five runs against Williams' four.

Big Ed Yeomans wielded the mighty stick to lead the Midd batters with two hits for three trips to the plate. Turner and VanGaasbeck each pounded out two for four. Catcher Meehan and fielder Hagstrom led the Williams attack—each with two hits.

In his playing debut, Bob Sheehan, Middlebury's freshman ski star, who had reported for baseball practice earlier but had decided that he would be unable to make the Massachusetts trip last week, looked very good at shortstop. He made some fine stops and he also proved his worth in his turns at the plate.

MIKE TALK By HALLIGAN

We are happy dear readers, and no doubt you, too, are happy. For not only was the weather of the best last weekend—but one finds the Blue and White of Middlebury waving high, high, high up on the hill, after a very successful athletic program of two days.

First and foremost let us consider the excellent spirit displayed by the pleasingly large number of rooters present at both contests. So before we go any further on behalf of the teams we wish to thank the crowd for this encouragement and in behalf of the spectators we wish to thank the teams for their fine performances.

Last Friday afternoon not only brought forth the usual brand of Brooklyn bleacher humor (which by the way, was not like Brooklyn in that it was good) but also some very welcome cheers. And in that agonizing eighth inning the rooters were using both vocal and body English to help Harry VanGaasbeck's pitches across the plate.

Again on Saturday they remained until the very last to cheer Middlebury's 220 runners, and practically sat in the jumping pit to await the final outcome of the event which was to decide the final results of the meet.

Concerning Friday's baseball game the more we think of it, the more we think of it—if you follow us.. And the more we think of it, the more it reminds us of the Boston university contest of last year, in which the Panther nine won another surprise victory over a supposedly superior opponent. The Boston contest was finally settled by a home run from the bat of Ed Yeoman's, but Friday's game was won by the heroic pitching of co-captain Harry VanGaasbeck.

If one man ever may be pointed out as the margin of victory, certainly we can name Van as the man—for his hitting, his fielding, and best of all his pitching. It was certainly appreciated by all connected with Middlebury college, for students, townspeople and faculty members were all there at the end of the ninth inning to slap congratulation on his back. Ergo—orchids for Harry.

Turning to Saturday's children, the track team, it would be difficult to pin the orchids on any one man, for they all did fine jobs. However we hope you will not mind too much if this week we shout loud hurrays for Freddie Butler in view of his swell performance in both the 440 and 880 yard runs.

When Middlebury meets Williams this week-end in the third track meet of the season it will be interesting to see whether or not the Panther runners can lower their times to meet the competition of the Purple speedsters. No answer can be given at this time of course, which places the Blue and White in the position of underdog, but this is not at all discouraging for it means Coach Brown's cindermen will go "all out" for victory.

Last week we received a rather interesting anonymous letter concerning the athletic situation at Middlebury in general, and the baseball situation in particular.

Starting out in a rather critical vein—and when we say critical we mean it in the very worse sense—the author finally arrived at what he thought would be a helpful idea.

Referring to Coach Kelly he states "the man is a potential Legree". However it comes not as a statement of personal feelings we are sure, because the author maintains that if Coach Kelly would exert greater discipline on the practice field, regarding training, and in the ball games themselves, better results would come of it. What the writer means in short is that Middlebury should get away from the lackadaisical "stagnancy" of the past, and turn out athletic teams whose major forte would be a keen fighting spirit of competition.

We cannot judge how correct Mr. X is in his views—nor can we say we noticed any "Legree" tendencies on the part of Coach Kelly last Friday when the team turned in a fine perfomance—but we can say that we appreciate very much the interest shown on the part of that unknown person who signs himself—"the vanishing American—a Midd fan".

Swanson Apartments Menaced By Yesterday's Downtown Fire

Available Fire Equipment Rushed To Spot As Sparks Fly

By Robert E. Kellogg '44

Middlebury got a taste of blitzkrieg yesterday. A fortnight of hot, unseasonable weather had withered things, dried green grass crispy brown, turned shingles into crinkly tinder. Suddenly on the wings of a southwest wind, fire literally exploded on the drowsy, downtown air.

People pushed and elbowed a path through a crowd thick with craning necks, saw a blaze eating through dry timber in an outbuilding adjoining the Swanson apartments.

At the height of the blaze, a dweller on the exposed corner awoke, gathered up various and sundry personal articles and made a dash for the first floor and the door.

Fire Department

Battlers from Middlebury fire departments turned out to man all available equipment. Two trucks responded to the hurry call turned in by a man connected with the local light and power company. Seeing flames and realizing the vulnerability of the flimsy, frame construction of the building, he had summoned all aid possible.

Before firemen had gained an upper hand, sheets of flame darted from the windows on three sides, rolled out to lick neighboring buildings with a withering fierceness and then subsided to gather power and force. Hoses were brought to play, aimed at checking the fire on the one side and also at wetting down the bordering walls of the apartments to prevent the possible spread of the fire.

Fanned and encouraged by the steady breeze, flames licked higher, crackled louder, threatened even the lumber company some distance across the court. For some minutes the hose, the equipment looked ineffectual, looked as if it could not hold it. Then the heavy freshet-like pressure was focused. Bright flame turned to sooty, acrid smoke, poured forth in tent-like clouds and rolled out to settle in the clothes and eyes of onlookers.

Typical Afternoon

Rather sleepy, rather siesta-heavy, was the air beforehand. Business was as usual, not too steady, even intermittent; traffic passed as usual, not at all kinky or congested but rather spotty; people with nothing better to do were sprinkled about the store fronts. School had just been let out and class-free students wandered by with their contrasting sharp chatter. It was, in short, a typical, not at all unusual, afternoon downtown.

Crowd Gathers

Conditions had been overly ripe. Of a sudden the green was overflowing, people were hurrying out of the library, out of the barbershop, out of the five-and-dime. The fields fronting Pearsons and Forest halls were evacuated. Sun bathers covered swim suits with whatever was in reach and ran out to join the stream of people from college.

Townspeople were apprehensive, had been so for days after reading of fires that had burst out in Jersey, destroyed homes in New England, and pillaged sections of Maryland, New York, and Virginia. And the premier cause was the weather. The same oppressive heat that did it there might again do it here.

NATIONAL SECRETARY VISITS ALPHA XI DELTA

Mrs. Dunham F. Conger, national secretary of Alpha Xi Delta, is visiting the Alpha Pi Chapter for a few days this week. She will be in Middlebury until Friday noon.

Thursday afternoon, the Alpha Xi's will give a tea in the rooms for Mrs. Conger, with representatives of other sororities and the Alpha Xi Delta patronnesses, Mrs. Mary M. Barney, Mrs. Benjamin F. Wissler, and Mrs. Hilda S. Crosby, as guests. Thursday evening, Mrs. Conger will speak to the sorority at a special business meeting.

Interviews with Dean Eleanor S. Ross and with the officers and members of the sorority will fill the rest of the national secretary's time.

Organ Recital On May 11 To Feature Bach, Franck, Played By David Schaub

On Sunday evening, May 11, at 7:30 in Mead chapel, Mr. David Schaub of Boston will present an organ recital of the works of Johann Sebastian Bach and Cesar Franck. There will be no admission charge.

Mr. Schaub is at the present time a graduate student at Harvard, and according to Prof. H. Ward Bedford, head of the music department, he has been very highly recommended and has achieved a considerable degree of favorable comment. This is the first of this type of concert to be held at Middlebury.

Mr. Schaub will play the following works by Bach: "Toccata in F Major," "Come, Redeemer of Our Race," "Christ Came to Jordan," and "Frantasia and Fugue in C Minor." The rest of the program will be made up of works by Cesar Franck, "Chorale in A Minor," "Pastorale," and "Piece Heroique."

Presenting Iowa's One-Man Radio Gang

Dual personalities are plentiful, even in radio, but there's only one twelve-charactered individual in radio or elsewhere and that's Jim Nelson, three-year veteran of the University of Iowa's radio station, WSUI. Genial Jim is one of two men in radio writing and performing one-man radio shows, but the senior Hawkeye's four programs a week including more than 12 characters is the biggest single-artist undertaking in the business today.

His favorite character is "Windy, the Woodsman", which has as large a following as any Iowa radio personality.

A blond wig, an old hat, and a kerchief and Jimmy gets into the character of Mrs. Fussbottom, a town busybody in Nelson's show "That Reminds Me", a story of the mustache-cup days.

His shows could well be stage productions for he acts them out. "Gyp the Drip" draws forth this menacing pose as Nelson puts "Gyp" out onto the airwaves. He handles his own sound-effects, too.

As you might well guess, Johnny Long started his career as a bandleader at Duke university, which also nurtured Les Brown.
